

SLEUTH IS HELD AS ACCESSORY IN CHOIR CASE

Judge Refuses To Dismiss Charge Against Private Operative Employed by Mrs. Hall.

BAIL OF $3,000 GIVEN FOR SLEUTH

Testifies He Never Met State Witness Who Said He Had Offered Her Bribe To Keep Quiet.

BY GRACE ROBINSON.
(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Somerville, N. J., November 26.—Felix De Martini, private detective to Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, today dared New Jersey justice by coming here to testify in her behalf in the trial of the widow and her brother, Willie and Henry Stevens, accused of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and his sweetheart, Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

Sensor Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor, met the challenge by service of a warrant that was sworn out last October 2. In that document Di Martini is charged with being an accessory after the fact in the murder of Mrs. Mills.

Held in $3,000 Bond.
He was arrested at 4 o'clock last as court adjourned. Later, at an arraignment before Judge Frank L. Cleary, the detective was released in $3,000 bail pending a hearing tomorrow.

Mrs. Hall is expected to take the stand Saturday in her own defense. Her appearance had been planned for today, but the cross-examination of Di Martini by Senator Simpson forced a change in plans of the defense.

Di Martini battled extradition to New Jersey for weeks, finally eluding the Hall prosecutor through a decision of the highest court of appeals, New York State's highest tribunal.

Before the law closed upon Di Martini he made a spectacular appearance on the witness stand, under protection of the court, evading assistants of the prosecutor.

Simpson's aides were waiting for Di Martini, as they knew the defense would not close its case without producing him to deny the many charges of bribery, intimidation, and undue influence made against him by state witnesses during the trial.

On the witness stand Di Martini admitted that although employed four years ago to solve the Hall-Mills murder mystery, he had never interviewed the one person reputed to have seen the murderers, Mrs. Jane Gibson. He did not even know Mrs. Gibson, although he had heard of her, he said.

"I never went to her home," he said. "I never shook my finger at her. I never said to Mrs. Gibson, 'you had better keep your mouth shut, it will be better for you.'"

Sleuth Paid $5,000.
This was the opportunity for which Simpson had been waiting for four months—ever since the start last summer of the renewed investigation of the murders of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills.

"You say you got $5,000 from Mrs. Hall?" asked the cross-examiner.
"About $5,000."

"And you knew in your investigation that Jane Gibson claimed to be one of the witnesses to the murders, didn't you?"
"That is from what I read."

"And you were trying to solve this mystery, irrespective of whom it hurt?"
"Absolutely."

Then Di Martini said he met a newspaperman named Frank Roth and they discussed the Gibson stories in the newspapers. The detective said he never met him.

Gore Is Returned To Fulton Tower From Death House

Prison Commission Members Declare Contention of Doomed Man's Attorneys Is Groundless.

"GLAD TO BE BACK," SAYS GORE IN CELL

Boykin To Oppose Permanent Injunction Plea at Hearing Monday Before Judge Park.

With Mel Gore back in his old cell at Fulton Tower, and "glad to get back" contention of his attorneys that the state has no warden to electrocute prisoners as required by law was declared groundless Friday by members of the state prison commission. The commission would have died in the chair Friday for his part in the slaying of W. H. Cheek, Peachtree road grocer, had it not been for an injunction staying execution that was granted by Judge J. B. Park, Jr. of the Ocmulgee circuit.

Gore was sleeping soundly at 9 o'clock Friday night when a Constitution reporter went to interview him. He roused himself and answered a few questions, but seemed loath to discuss any phase of his case. He said, however, that he was "glad to get back" to Fulton Tower, and expressed appreciation for his deliverance from death Friday.

The condemned youth smiled as he encountered familiar persons among the jail attendants, upon his return. His cell is on the second floor.

This was the second time that Gore has been brought back from Milledgeville after being taken there to die. He was returned Friday by R. T. Tober and J. F. Griffin, Fulton county deputies, who were to help in his execution. Gore was taken there more than 10 days ago.

Has Three Wardens.
Judge R. E. Davidson, chairman of the prison commission, and Judge T. E. Patterson, member, conferred with Judge Park Friday and assured him that the state has three wardens at the state prison qualified to execute prisoners under the act requiring electrocution of condemned prisoners.

Judge R. E. Davidson, chairman of the prison commission, and Judge T. E. Patterson, member, conferred with Judge Park Friday and assured him that the state has three wardens at the state prison qualified to execute prisoners under the act requiring electrocution of condemned prisoners.

Hearing Set Monday.
Hearing of the Gore petition for an injunction restraining the state from executing him will be held Monday before Judge Park at Gray, Georgia, where he will be residing over the court.

It was learned that the act of Judge Park in granting the temporary order will give Gore about ten more days to live in event the injunction is not made permanent or that there is no commutation in his case. Under a recent decision of the supreme court it is required that a prisoner in Gore's status must be brought back to the court in which he was convicted to be resentenced. The new date of death must be not less than ten days and not more than twenty from the day of the resentencing.

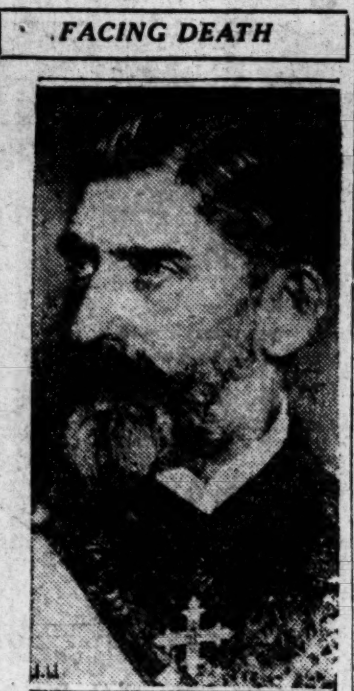

Minutes Show Appointment.
Gore's plea for an injunction was based on the act which requires the warden at the state penitentiary to serve as executioner. It was contended that Judge Dunaway is superintendent of the state prison; and is not a warden.

Members of the prison commission said Judge Dunaway is superintendent of the prison and also a warden, and is bonded as a warden. Minutes of meetings of the commission show that Judge Dunaway was named superintendent of the prison in 1922. At a later meeting, the minutes show that he was elected warden to succeed R. N. Etheridge. The commissioners stated that there is nothing in the law to prevent the superintendent of the state farm and the warden from being the same person.

Solicitor General John A. Boykin, who heads the prosecution of Gore, and Assistant Solicitor Ed A. Stephens will go to Gray Monday and will appear before Judge Park to oppose the plea for a permanent injunction staying the execution of the condemned man.

Copies of the injunction and the order of Judge Park were wired for Friday morning and are expected to be received by the solicitor this morning. They will be turned over to Solicitor Boykin as a basis for his preparation to resist the injunction.

KING FERDINAND OF RUMANIA

G. O. P. WORRIED OVER MAINE FIGHT FOR SENATORSHIP

Charges of Bribery and of Excessive Campaign Expenditures Stir Leaders of Party.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, November 26.—Cold chills coursed the spinal columns of republican leaders today as a result of the latest political developments in Maine, where a United States senator is to be elected Monday to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Fernald.

The republican candidate, Arthur R. Gould, is charged with excessive campaign expenditures and with paying $100,000 for bribery of government officials in New Brunswick, Canada. He has been denounced by Governor Brewster, a defeated rival for the nomination, who likened the candidate to a receiver of stolen goods. And now the Coolidge administration has withdrawn the light of its favor from the republican nominee.

Jeopardize Congress Control.
If all these circumstances should combine to defeat Mr. Gould on Monday, republican control of the senate in the 70th congress would be seriously jeopardized, for the lineup in that event would be 48 democrats, 47 republicans and one farmer-labor. For republican organization of the senate under such circumstances, it would be necessary for the regular republicans to get the two banished republicans, Brookhart, of Iowa, and Frazier, of North Dakota, back into the party fold, to hold all the other members of the La Follette group in line and annex the vote of the farmer-laborite.

Various dispatches from Vienna, which have not been confirmed, reporting a serious dynasty crisis in Rumania, declares that a section of the army and the peasant party, which is the largest group in parliament, are supporting Carol or succession to the throne. There are even rumors from certain quarters which are not looked upon as absolutely reliable, of impending civil war with the various parties accumulating arms and ammunition for the conflict.

MAISON GASOLINE PRICE 18 CENTS

Wofford Oil Company Slashes Price in Central City; No New Cuts for Atlanta.

MAISON, Ga., November 26.—(P)—For the first time in two years gasoline will retail here tomorrow at less than 20 cents a gallon. The Wofford Oil company announced that Purel gasoline will retail at 18 cents at all its stations here. Most other companies are still charging 22 cents.

NO CHANGE IN ATLANTA PRICES.
While the price of gasoline at retail in Macon will be reduced to 18 cents per gallon today, including state tax, Wiley L. Moore, head of the Wofford Oil company, which announced the Macon reduction, said Friday night that no immediate corresponding slash was planned by his concern for Atlanta.

Mr. Moore declined to divulge reasons for the big cut in Macon and said he had no statement to make concerning the variety of prices prevailing over the state.

While Macon today will begin buying gasoline at 18 cents, Atlanta motorists will continue to pay either 21 or 23 cents. The Pan-American corporation and the Wofford Oil company are retailing gasoline at 21 cents, while practically all other companies continue to charge 23 cents.

Coup d'Etat by Prince Carol Is Feared; Peasants and Part of Army Back Him.

POLITICAL PARTIES READY TO FIGHT

Premier and Ex-President Head Organizations That Will Resist Any Effort by Prince.

London, November 26.—(AP)—The Bucharest correspondent of the Westminster Gazette says King Ferdinand of Rumania, "is not expected to live until morning." The dispatch, bearing today's (Friday's) date, adds that blood congestion of the large intestine, due to cancer, is causing blood poisoning. Bucharest is described as "awaiting a coup d'etat."

A special correspondent sent by the Daily Mail to Bucharest to investigate the condition of the king, telegraphs from Budapest that Ferdinand is desperately ill with cancer of the bowels.

Solid Food Barred.
Although this disorder causes constant pain, the correspondent says, the king is not bed-ridden but attends the family meals and maintains outward cheerfulness. He is not allowed to have solid food, his diet being confined exclusively to tea and weak broth.

To what extent the grave reports of Ferdinand's illness are true is not known here. While there are many conflicting versions, the dispatches to several London newspapers describe his condition as more serious than heretofore. The special Mail correspondent declares that the official reports issued at Bucharest are unjustifiably sanguine.

Ferdinand is said to be growing thinner. The attending surgeons have recommended an immediate dangerous operation, but this as well as the examination by the X-ray, has been postponed until the return of Queen Marie.

Wants to See Son.
The supreme personal desire of the king, according to The Mail correspondent, is to see the former Crown Prince Carol. He is said to be willing to rescind Carol's renunciation of the throne if he shows signs of becoming a worthy successor. In this connection, the correspondent adds, Carol has written to his father asking permission to visit him, but insisting that Princess Helen must leave Rumania.

(Princess Helen, of Greece, became the wife of Carol after the annulment of hismorganatic marriage to Zizi Lambrino.)

Various dispatches from Vienna, which have not been confirmed, reporting a serious dynasty crisis in Rumania, declares that a section of the army and the peasant party, which is the largest group in parliament, are supporting Carol or succession to the throne. There are even rumors from certain quarters which are not looked upon as absolutely reliable, of impending civil war with the various parties accumulating arms and ammunition for the conflict.

Chilly Blast Hits Atlanta Friday Night

Peak of Cold Wave Expected Sunday; Near-Freezing Temperature Predicted.

On the heels of one of the warmest Thanksgiving weeks Atlanta has experienced in many years, a cold wave hit Atlanta Friday night, riding on a stiff northwestern wind.

Temperatures are not expected to go below the freezing point, according to the weather bureau. The cold spell probably will reach its peak Sunday. The Washington government forecast for Atlanta was "much colder."

Earlier predictions Friday heralded cold weather, but it was not looked for quite so soon. With the arrival of darkness Friday night, however, a northwest wind turned colder and blew harder, sweeping the city throughout the night with intensity.

Clear weather, with strong northwesterly winds, will prevail in Atlanta for several days, according to the forecast, and the mercury will go almost to the freezing point, reaching its lowest mark Sunday. Today temperatures are expected to be as low as 40 degrees.

The sudden cold wave follows one of the most comfortable Thanksgivings weeks in Atlanta in several years. Rains during Wednesday afternoon and night were the only things to mar a week of perfect weather.

80 KILLED AND 150 HURT AS RESULT OF TORNADOES IN SIX SOUTHERN STATES

$1,616,649 ROAD CONTRACTS LET IN 17 COUNTIES

BIBB DELEGATION SEEKS $725,000

Bids for Road Projects in Two Counties Rejected for Various Reasons.

Contracts totaling $1,616,649.20 for road and bridge construction in 17 Georgia counties, were awarded Friday by the state highway board. Projects included more than 50 miles of permanent paving and 65 miles of top-soil and improved highways preparatory to paving later.

Bids on proposed construction in two other counties—Thomas and Columbia—which were to have been awarded at the meeting, were rejected and new bids called for.

The board, in special executive session Friday announced it could take no action at this time on the claim presented by a Bibb county delegation, in which reimbursement of $725,000 advanced for state-road construction there, was asked. R. L. McKenney, editor of the Macon News, and J. E. Estes, Bibb county attorney, were spokesmen for the delegation.

Legality Admitted.
While admitting the legality of the obligation, board members offered no encouragement for immediate settlement, declaring that reimbursement now necessarily would put at halt the entire state's paving program.

Chairman John N. Holder, of the state highway commission, in discussing the claim of the Bibb county officials for reimbursement of $725,000 expended by Bibb county in paving state aid roads, declared that the highway law clearly states that counties due refunds from the state on certificates of reimbursement cannot be paid this money until the established system of state aid roads is completed.

When numerous Georgia counties went ahead in a progressive way and paved certain state aid roads through their counties and received certificates of reimbursement they did so with the express understanding and knowledge that these claims were not to be paid until the state system was completed.

Must Complete System First.
Chairman Holder said the state system amounted to 6,237 miles when the Bibb pavement was laid and said the state had obligated to pay under this plan, approximately $20,000,000 to Georgia counties, but these counties will not and cannot be paid until the present system is completed. He stated that any attempt to pay these counties now would halt the entire state road building plan for an indefinite period.

It is probably the most vital legal point in the trial and might be ground for an appeal to higher courts.

The argument is over interpretation of the law granting immunity to testimony before a congressional committee. The government prosecutors insist that the statute forbids using in court only such evidence as is forced by a congressional committee under subpoena. They quote from the testimony of the late Senator Doherty:

"I am personally pleased and gratified that Commander Bartlett and his brave crew had the courage to complete the Panama flight after sustaining a severe setback." Admiral E. W. Eberle, chief of the navy bureau of operations, stated tonight when informed of the safe arrival.

Besides Commander Bartlett, the other members of the crew of the PN-10 No. 2 are Lieutenants H. C. Root and C. H. Schildhauer and Machinist's Mate Charles J. Sutter.

Weak System of Dealing With Crime Amazes Briton

CONTRASTS AMERICAN AND ENGLISH JUSTICE

(Editor's Note—Thomas Cadett, of The London Times, is the holder of the Walter Hines Page newspaper fellowship, and is spending a year in America under the terms of the fellowship. He has temporarily joined the staff of The Constitution. Mr. Cadett has served on the staffs of The San Francisco Chronicle and The Chicago Daily News. The Constitution was selected, without its knowledge, as the representative southern newspaper on which he is to serve in getting a national acquaintance with American conditions.)

BY THOMAS CADETT.

To expect law and justice to be completely synonymous in any country is unreasonable and unfair unless and until human unity achieves perfection in which case law would be unnecessary and justice taken for granted. But the present state of crime in America, and the machinery that exists to deal with it, are unworthy of a nation that shows itself to be so great in other ways.

That is not an original observation; it is merely the repetition of a statement that every thinking American is constantly making, the truth of which speedily becomes apparent to the foreigner.

The whole subject of crime, with its many causes, apart from the vagaries of the individual, covers such an enormous field that an adequate study of conditions would be a life's work. Even an adequate description would fill the shelves of a library. It is, however, very clear that the present form of American criminal law and procedure, cumbersome, archaic and lopsided as it is, contributes very largely to a state of affairs that can only be regretted by your friends as well as your selves.

British justice is so universally and rightly admired that I make no excuse for drawing attention to some of its characteristics; not, indeed, from any motives of racial prejudice or conceit, but as an illustration of what is possible in a nation of 47,000,000 people, and as some explanation of the fact that the whole country is full of but a fraction of the annual number of murders that are committed in many single American cities. In my country we have the advantage of a homogeneous population; the racial diversity of this country is a heavy handicap; the British people are essentially law-abiding, while there is no doubt that the American policeman has to work in an atmosphere that is more often hostile than not. But these factors, important as they are, have nothing whatever to do with the law itself, its form, its application and the administration of punishment.

No Political Taint.
First and foremost, with us, politics are politics, probably no better and certainly no worse than those of other countries; but the law is the law—it is also something suspiciously like justice—and not the remotest political taint enters therein. The whole of the judiciary is appointed, and in this connection it must be said that no political party has so far accused any other with juggling with such appointments. The accusation would be made speedily enough if there were even the slightest imitable basis. In consequence, no judge, in trying a case, has even the vestige of taint.

LEGAL DISPUTE HOLDS UP TRIAL OF FALL, DOHENY

Whether Court Shall Admit Testimony Taken at Senate Inquiry Is Under Advisement.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.
Washington, November 26.—Progress of the Fall-Doheny oil trial has been held up over the week-end by a legal argument. The issue is whether Doheny's testimony before the senate Teapot Dome investigating committee, admitting that he advanced $100,000 to Fall, shall be submitted to the jury as evidence. Of course the ruling will apply to anything else brought out in the famous senate hearing.

It is probably the most vital legal point in the trial and might be ground for an appeal to higher courts.

The argument is over interpretation of the law granting immunity to testimony before a congressional committee. The government prosecutors insist that the statute forbids using in court only such evidence as is forced by a congressional committee under subpoena. FUNDS ARE ASKED TO RELIEVE NEEDY IN HEBER SPRINGS

Arkansas, Louisiana and Missouri Towns Are Hardest Hit by Freak Storm.

CAROLINAS REPORT DAMAGE BY WINDS

Three Are Killed and Score of Homes Destroyed Near Winfield, Ala., Friday.

Memphis, Tenn., November 26.—(P)—Eighty persons were known to be dead tonight from the violence of tornadoes which struck in six southern and southwestern states late yesterday and today.

Arkansas paid the gravest penalty with 40 killed by the winds in 12 or more widely separated communities. Heber Springs lost 21 citizens when the twisting storm struck that Ozark foothills town early last night. Moscow, near Pine Bluff, counted ten dead and other fatalities were reported from remote settlements in seven counties.

Louisiana counted 16 dead, 11 at Mer Rouge and five in or about Haynesville, Claiborne parish.

Ten Negroes Killed.
Ten negroes died as a result of the gale's fury in Mississippi. Nine of the victims were killed outright on plantations around Marks, north of Clarksdale, while another died later today. The storm swooped down upon the negro quarters shortly after midnight.

In Missouri, tonight's fatalities stood at four, three having perished at Brandville, Howell county, and one at Competition, Laclede county. Reports of the death of a school teacher at Big Piney proved erroneous.

The winds blew three today when they fell in twisting fury upon a group of homes near Winfield, Ala. Another was believed fatally hurt by the tornado which demolished more than a score of homes and killed a hundred cattle.

One died in west Texas when a sand-storm cut off great property losses in Lubbock county.

150 Are Injured.
The number of injured persons in the six states was conservatively estimated at 150 and property losses might total a million dollars. Whirling winds and property damage were regarded as comparatively moderate in view of the wide range of the eccentric series of tornadoes.

Red Cross and state authorities were busy tonight in strenuous efforts to give aid to storm sufferers at Heber Springs, where the whirling winds wrecked the northern section of the town with property losses which may reach a half million dollars. R. M. Reilly, of the St. Louis Red Cross staff, in charge of the disaster relief at Heber Springs. On orders from Governor Terral, Arkansas national guardsmen also were there to aid in restoring order in the ruins.

Is the Turkey All Gone?

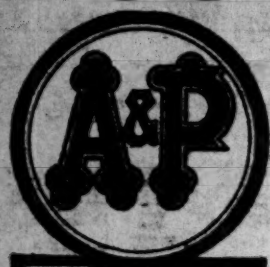

If the turkey isn't all gone you'd better chuck the rest of it in the interests of peace, harmony and good digestion. No matter how good the turkey, or how well we all like it, there comes a time when we'd like something else.

And that something else is mentioned in the grocery, market and produce advertisements in today's Constitution. If you are at a loss what to get for the over-Sunday meals, just take a few minutes and read these attractive advertisements.

Write out your list as you read, and the various items you select will automatically make up your menus. The prices are all quoted, and they are the last for the day's business.

OPINION OF YOUTH ON WORLD TOPIC OF DR. HOUGHTON

"What Youth Thinks About the World" will be Pastor Will H. Houghton's subject Sunday night at 7:30 at the Baptist Tabernacle. This is the second of the series founded on the questionnaires sent to 2,000 college students in Atlanta.

Pastor Houghton will read from many of these questionnaires. The particular questions for this week have to do with the condition of the world, whether it is growing better or worse, the condition of the home, and liberty of thought and liberty of action. Last Sunday night's sermon on these questionnaires was quoted in the press from New Orleans to New York, and many clippings were sent to the tabernacle office.

E. Powell Lee, with the great chorus choir, will give special selections in addition to the popular song service in which the crowd joins. The service Sunday morning will be combined with the session of the Sunday school, the morning service starting at 10:30 this week instead of 11 o'clock as usual.

NEW PASTOR AT PARK STREET METHODIST

A special program has been arranged for Park Street Methodist church, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, when Rev. Marvin Franklin, who has been transferred from Barnesville, Ga., will preach his first sermon. Rev. Franklin moved with his family to the city Friday. His Sunday morning subject will be "Man's Supreme Quest" and Sunday night he will speak on "The Acid Test."

MANNING AWAITS ANSWER BY ROME

New York, November 26.—Relations between leaders of Catholic and Episcopal churches moved toward a crisis Friday when Bishop William T. Manning challenged Rome to dispute his Thanksgiving attack upon the Consuelo Vanderbilt-Duke of Marlborough marriage annulment.

Admitting a religious controversy exists, Manning indicated he was not through. "I shall make no further statement at this time," he told the United News. "The next move must come from Rome."

He defended as "imperative" his pronouncement on the annulment, which was that the action of the Vatican tribunal was an "impertinence" and "to be deeply deplored."

"Both Catholics and Protestants, I feel, will appreciate and acknowledge the frankness and sincerity with which the statement was made," he added.

The caustic reply to his Thanksgiving statement by the Rev. John J. Dunn, of New York, was not answered.

Bishop Manning feels the Vatican tribunal owes him an answer for it was in his church 31 years ago that the Vanderbilt-Marlborough wedding took place.

The Rev. Dunn, who is an auxiliary bishop, spoke in the absence of Cardinal Hayes, through whom it is generally believed Rome may make its reply.

Bishop Manning said that he "regretted the circumstances that forced the statement."

"A religious controversy with the Catholic church is something that I most earnestly would have sought to avoid," he said, "but under the circumstances I felt that a comprehensive statement was imperative."

Wage Raise Given Shop Men by 11 Western Roads

Chicago, November 26.—(P)—Wage increases estimated at $3,000,000 annually on eleven western railroads operating out of Chicago, affecting about 100,000 shopmen, have been granted by the roads, it was disclosed today.

The advance ranges from 1 to 3 cents an hour, in most cases 2 cents an hour.

The roads involved are the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe; Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; Chicago and Eastern Illinois; Fort Worth and Denver; Union Pacific; Washburn; Illinois Central; Great Northern; Milwaukee and St. Paul; and the Chicago and North Western.

The Chicago and Northwestern railway is negotiating with the Federated Shop Crafts but has not reached any agreement. The Federated Shop Crafts are recognized also on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway but have not been on many of the roads since the strike of 1922.

Boosting the South!

REALIZING the harm that might be done by misinformation about the low price of cotton, we, as a representative Southern concern are doing all within our ability to combat the evil of rumors and are exercising every effort to promote the use of cotton products. Agricultural reports show a decided gain in total revenue amounting to over 100 millions, however, conclusively proving that low priced cotton cannot affect our present prosperity. We will be glad to cooperate with other firms in a concerted effort to spread the true facts of the well being of the Southern States.

DAWES DEDICATES CHICAGO STADIUM

Chicago, November 26.—(AP)—Ranking in column across a snow-swept field, three thousand students of the United States military and naval academies today shared in the dedication of Soldiers' field, where tomorrow the twenty-two men representing the Army and Navy football teams will hold the eyes of 100,000 spectators in the first service game ever played in the middle west.

Thousands of spectators assembled in the vast stadium today braving a bitter wind and a driving, biting snow to attend the ceremonies dedicating the city's monument to its war dead, in which Vice President Charles G. Dawes made the principal speech.

Parade From Hotel.
The cadets paraded from their respective hotel quarters to the stadium in the face of icy flakes and sharp winds off Lake Michigan, to find a colorful picture awaiting them, and to take their place in the concrete bowl which they studied with their blue and gray uniforms while around them thousands of student military corps from high schools dotted the seating sections together with American Legion units which preceded the cadets to the stadium in a parade down Michigan avenue. The legion section presented a pageant depicting the history of the flag, and behind them were service men of allied nations carrying their respective national colors. Thousands formed a human gauntlet along Michigan avenue during the parade, braving the wind and snow.

When the marchers had taken their places by the reviewing stand, the cadets entered, followed by the legion, the army band and the rest of the parade following the army band around the edge of the gridiron until every corner of the thousand military pupils had passed the reviewing stand where the vice president, Mayor Dever and others of renown lifted ice-encrusted silk hats in recognition.

Middle Arrive.
Back of the cadets came the midshipmen, nineteen hundred strong, behind their band, which took up its position at the opposite end of the field. As the men of the two schools passed the stands they wheeled rapidly into a series of formations which were dissolved as they turned to round the south end of the stadium and return to the gridiron. Finally they stood, company after company, facing the speaker's platform, and where they held their positions through half an hour of speaking which formally opened the ten-million-dollar stadium to the public.

With bowed heads they listened to a chaplain's prayer, then to Commander Edward P. Savage, of the American Legion; Mayor Dever, Lieutenant Governor Sterling, of Illinois, and President Edward J. Kelly, of the South Park board, which directed the building of the stadium.

Rear Admiral Louis E. Nulton, commander of the naval academy, accepted the stadium in the name of the navy, and General Merch B. Stewart, commander of the military academy, for the army, in lieu of General John J. Pershing, who could not attend.

Dawes' Address.
With an address shorter than Lincoln's at Gettysburg, Charles G. Dawes, vice president of the United States, today dedicated Soldiers' field stadium to the memory of Chicago's war dead.

The vice president said:
"We need to dedicate this great stadium to the memory of the soldiers of our war who made the supreme sacrifice for our country. No comment of mine can adequately translate into words our gratitude to them, who have given us freedom, and this government under law with its blessings of peace and happiness."
"When through the years the nation for its preservation was confronted with war it asked and received the sacrifice of the flower of its youth for the common good. It was the young who fought its battles."
"Dedicated, when they entered the war, to silent and complete obedience to orders which meant certain death—inarticulate in their serried columns of battle, these young men—now dead—speak to us at last but one message upon this occasion: To preserve unshaken what they gave us—to think in these careless days of the awful cost of that liberty we so often abuse—to form within our own souls in this time of peace which has come to us, the firm determination to maintain our constitution and our constitutional institutions, that their blessings enjoyed by us may be transmitted to our children and our children's children."

police station after the accident and reported to Charles H. Grant, night clerk in the police chief's office. He said that Mr. Foster walked directly in the path of his machine from between two cars.

Final Day for Action Here CONTEST CLOSES AT MIDNIGHT TONIGHT In Elephant Puzzle Game

Today is the day for action! Contestants—new and old alike—must submit their solutions to The Constitution's famous elephant puzzle in order to have a chance at a slice of the big prize money so opportunely offered winners for Christmas.

The contest comes to an official close tonight. Atlanta contestants have until midnight to deliver their solutions to The Constitution or to mail them at the postoffice or nearest mail box.

All contestants living outside of Atlanta—no matter where in Georgia and adjoining states—also have until midnight to drop their solutions in the mails at their postoffice or their own rural route boxes.

Those who have not been able to send or secure the required number of subscriptions with remittance to fully qualify their solutions for the biggest prize by midnight tonight, will have all next week and until midnight Saturday, December 4, but all solutions must be mailed or delivered at The Constitution by midnight tonight.

And while we are speaking of qualifying solutions, it might be well to sound a general warning to all to be sure to qualify their solutions to the puzzle in the park and fell, but details of the accident were not given. He was dismissed after having the fractures bound.

Boy Badly Hurt.
Edward L. Hawkins, 9, of 105 Simpson street, was treated at Grady hospital for a fractured skull and probable internal injuries received Friday afternoon when knocked down by an automobile driven by R. N. Holloway, of 1444 Eberhart street, on Highland avenue, according to police.

According to information given police, Mr. Holloway stopped his car immediately, took the injured lad to the hospital and rendered every assistance possible. At the request of the child's parents no case was made, police reports show.

Call Officer W. H. Dodd who investigated, reported that the youth stepped suddenly in front of Mr. Holloway's car, which was being driven at a moderate rate of speed.

A man believed by police to be W. W. Woodfin, of 47 Seminole avenue, was taken to Piedmont hospital Friday afternoon in an unconscious condition as the result of a collision between a car owned by an Ivy street rental agency and one driven by J. A. Womack, of 603 Willard street, on Weyman avenue, according to police records.

COLLISION UNAVOIDABLE

According to a report filed at the police station, Womack was driving east on Weyman avenue behind a street car and the collision with the rental car could not be avoided.

Mrs. Nancy Smith, 46, of 91 Griffin street, was treated at Grady hospital Friday for injuries received when struck down by a street car near Central avenue and Hunter street, according to police.

According to a report filed at the police station and with officials of the Georgia Railway and Power company, the street was crowded with automobiles and Mrs. Smith stepped suddenly from behind an automobile directly into the path of the oncoming street car.

J. A. Sasser, of 401 Ponce de Leon avenue, was struck down and seriously injured Friday afternoon at Peachtree and Pine streets by a taxicab driven by Ben M. Owens, of 805 East Ashland street, according to police.

Owens was taken to Blackman's hospital where it was found he was suffering from a fractured collar bone and possible fracture of several ribs. No case was made by police after an investigation.

EIGHTY KILLED BY TORNADOES

Seven hundred and fifty persons were believed homeless.

Water and light were two problems in the wrecked resort town tonight. Mayor Roy Raywinkle directed that great care be taken in building fires, mindful of the destructive blazes which followed the winds last night.

A few shallow wells were virtually the only source of water supply.

Emergency Hospital.
Injured who numbers two score or more, were being cared for in an emergency hospital set up in the courthouse.

In addition to the sixteen dead in Louisiana, 35 suffered injuries in winescent areas of Mer Rouge and Haynesville. Eleven or thirteen children were killed, including a boy named Mer Rouge, but the raging element killed their parents, Robert Lott, a farmer, and his wife, and their sisters, Wilmerth, 4, and Doris, 6.

Oil fields suffered in the Louisiana storm, 50 derricks and a number of houses, and an oil workers' camp being destroyed. Other oil property was damaged at Bracon's spur and in the Roxana camp and Ware Chapel communities.

After snaking its way through the Ozark mountains the storm struck with its greatest fury about the foothills of the mountain range late yesterday, whirled through the town of Heber Springs, Ark., and across the state boundary into Missouri with the proportion and characteristics of a mid-fall tornado—an unusual phenomenon—dipped into half a dozen Arkansas counties and into Louisiana, whence it veered to the east into Alabama and Mississippi and then into Tennessee.

The list of dead from tornadoes follows by state:

receive the very biggest of the 30 great cash prizes ranging downward from the capital award of $2,000.

Good cash money at this time of the year is particularly welcome, so don't take a chance at winning only in hundreds, but shoot at the thousand dollar columns.

Above all things don't wait until the very last minute to send in your solution. Something might happen to keep you from getting in line for Christmas wealth, so play safe and get busy early this morning. It doesn't pay to take unnecessary chances.

In order that all may have a full and complete understanding about the prizes, remember this:

The size of the prize you win will depend upon the closeness of your figures to the correct weight of the elephant. A three months' subscription to The Daily and Sunday Constitution, $2.50, with the winning answer, will only pay you $200. A six months' subscription, $5, sent in with the winning solution, will pay $500.

A 12 months' subscription, $10, will pay $1,000, and a 12 months' subscription, $20, together with two new six months' subscriptions at $5 each, total $30, will make you eligible to receive the capital prize of $2,000.

DEAD IN ALABAMA.
Winfield, Ala., November 26.—(AP)—Three persons are dead, one is dying, more than a score of homes destroyed and hundreds of head of cattle killed, as the result of a tornado which struck one mile north of here early today.

The dead: Mrs. Della Langley, 45, Emma May Langley, 15, and Roland Langley, 12, all killed instantly and their bodies hurled 200 yards through the air. Another member of the family, Olin Langley, 21, was believed fatally injured.

The tornado swept the vicinity of a church, demolishing more than 20 homes and tearing down a plank from plank, with a viciousness that spread terror over the countryside.

The Langley family was eating breakfast when the storm struck. One son had finished the meal and was on his way to work when the tornado struck the home. He was uninjured.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED BY STORM IN MISSOURI

St. Louis, Mo., November 26.—(AP)—Tornadoes which swept through the Missouri Ozarks last night killed at least four persons, injured between 75 and 100 persons and left a trail of property destruction.

Striking first at Bransville, near the Arkansas line, a tornado took three lives and destroyed about three-fourths of the buildings. Heavy damage also was caused at Rover and slight damage at Thomasville, nearby inland towns.

Apparently a different tornado struck at Competition, 75 miles north-west of Bransville, and tore a destructive path in a northeasterly direction through Big Piney, Vida and Knob View, where it seemed to have spent most of its force. A 60-mile wind, however, blew as far northeast as St. Louis.

Nearly all the buildings in Competition and Big Piney were demolished. One person was killed at Competition and two others were so seriously injured they were expected to die.

Thirty or more were injured at Big Piney, but no one was killed. A report that Clyde Miller, a school teacher, was killed proved erroneous.

RELIEF FUND ASKED FOR HEBER SPRINGS

Little Rock, Ark., November 26.—(AP)—The state of Arkansas was petitioned tonight for a relief fund to lessen the suffering and aid the rehabilitation of Heber Springs, the mountain city which suffered heaviest from the tornado terrors of yesterday.

Governor Terral received a request late this afternoon to appeal for the raising of such a fund, and newspapers were asked by authorities in the stricken area to receive contributions.

Meanwhile supplies of the state national guard were dispatched to the city, medical officers of the same organization were ordered to the scene from many points in central and north Arkansas; Red Cross aid was proffered both from here and from St. Louis, and residents of the Cleburne county hamlets which escaped the storm did what they could in rescue and relief work.

The Pulaski county society was informed that aid of the American Red Cross might not be solicited for the current emergency, but M. E. Reddy, assistant national director of disaster work, well known for his efforts in the Newport fire, left for the scene to discuss rehabilitation plans.

MANY PEOPLE HURT IN SOUTH CAROLINA.
Columbia, S. C., November 26.—(AP)—The southeast felt the dying breath of the storm as it puffed out of the central south today, suffering considerable damage from flooded streets, smashed store fronts, disrupted communication and public utilities. Several houses were blown down and more than a score of persons incurred slight injuries, but available reports showed no fatalities.

South Carolina appeared to have received the worst of the storm. A driving gale, accompanied by torrential rain, struck Rock Hill late in the afternoon, bowling over a number of frame houses and chimneys, uprooting trees and telegraph poles, wrecking more than a score of parked automobiles and smashing plate-glass windows and signs. Twelve persons received hospital treatment. The town was in darkness for a time and a company of South Carolina national guardsmen patrolled the streets tonight to prevent looting. Damage was estimated at $150,000.

Woman Seriously Injured.
Menger reports said that a woman was injured seriously at Sharon, 22 miles from Rock Hill, but the extent of the storm there and in other communities in its path could not be determined here because of demolished wire facilities.

A church near Greenville was demolished and several mill residences blown down. Hail and rain fell during the storm.

Charlotte, N. C., experienced a 15-minute squall, during which heavy rain fell, but reported no damage.

In Danville, Va., a 10-degree drop in temperature followed a gale which lashed the southern section of the city.

At Winfield—Mrs. Della Langley

At Haynesville—Dalton Smith, 21, Vane chapel community; Mrs. Dalton Smith, 20; Eugene Smith, 10, nephew of Dalton Smith; David Smith, 21, of Vane chapel; B. L. Flora, 22, Roxana camp.

At Werrough—Bob Lott, 40; Mrs. Bob Lott, 33; Doug Lott, 10; Wilmett Lott, 4, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lott; Lizzie Payton, Albert Cleveland and wife, Annie Potter, Susan Diggerson, Besse Reed and wife (negroes). Those seriously injured and expected to die at Haynesville are Curtis Smith, 16; Mrs. C. T. Laughlin, 38, and Mrs. T. M. Crump, 64, all of the Vane chapel community.

At Winfield—Mrs. Della Langley

NICARAGUAN REVOLT VIRTUALLY AT END

Managua, Nicaragua, November 26.—The Nicaraguan revolution virtually was at an end tonight following discharge of government troops which have been battling the insurrectionists. Liberal leaders admitted that they were defeated.

Acceptance of peace was predicted shortly by those who have followed the lead of General Moncada in attempting to overthrow the conservative government of Presidents Chamorro and Diaz.

The revolution has lasted several months.

Upon assumption of office by Diaz several weeks ago his government announced the end of the revolution as its first goal. Shortly thereafter the United States warned "outside interests" against interference in Nicaraguan affairs and this was generally accepted as a suggestion that Mexican gun runners abandon supplying arms to the revolutionists.

General Moncada failed in his first efforts to arrange peace terms through the good offices of Rear Admiral Latimer, of the United States navy to day. A second conference was scheduled immediately. Latimer has been representing the government as an intermediary in the controversy.

TWO PERSONS KILLED BY STORM IN NORFOLK

Norfolk, Va., November 26.—(AP)—Two persons were killed, three others were injured and considerable property damage was done by a freak storm that swept over this section between 5:30 and 6:30 o'clock tonight. High winds, that in small areas, where the casualties and chief property damage occurred, took the form of a tornado or water spout and a severe local disturbance accompanied the storm. Several homes were damaged by lightning or wind and streets and roads were flooded.

The two men killed were caught in the wreckage of two 700-foot long warehouses of the Southgate Forwarding and Storage company on the southern branch of the Elizabeth river near Portsmouth. They were A. J. Evans and E. H. Butler, both watchmen. Butler died after being taken to a hospital and Evans' body still was under the debris of the razed buildings late tonight. The three other victims were said to have been dangerously injured.

The tornado that damaged the Southgate plant also wrecked 15 box cars on the tracks of the Norfolk-Portsmouth belt line railroad inside the plant.

Face and neck covered with eruption
Resinol cleared it away

Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 26.—"I think Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are wonderful—I was a sufferer from skin trouble and I know what they did for me. I had only a few pimples at first, but this infection soon spread until they covered my face and neck and made me look disgraceful. They irritated me so I could scarcely keep my fingers off them. I tried various treatments, but none gave more than temporary relief. A friend recommended Resinol and I bought a jar of ointment and a cake of soap. After the second application of each, the itching stopped and when I had used the Resinol products for five weeks, there was not a trace of the trouble left." (Signed) Arthur Smith, 489 Hudson Ave.

In other sections Benzol-Gasoline Motor Fuels are to be had. But their price is from 3 cents to 5 cents a gallon more than gasoline. They're worth it. In Atlanta Woco Pep, the king of all benzol blended motor fuels, is selling today for 21c. Ordinary gasoline costs that much. Many ordinary gasolines cost more.

Right now Woco Pep is the biggest motor fuel value in the South. Its price meets all competition. In quality and mileage it exceeds all competition.

Washington, November 26.—The first newspaper picture of President Coolidge with a sure enough broad smile on his face was printed this morning. It was snapped as he left the Thanksgiving service at the White House in the company of Mrs. Coolidge and the two children.

He was evidently thankful of spirit, but what consoled the unsmiling smile was a matter of general speculation. However, it is known that President Coolidge believes the American people are doing "mighty well" and ought to be thankful above all other folks.

Leaders here in foreign relation affairs do not look for our difference with Mexico to actually produce an armed conflict. They see more than one peaceful way in which to adjust the conflicting opinions of the two governments. It is believed that President Calles will sense the fact that other governments will support the United States and will so arrange his procedures as to avoid the withdrawal of recognition of his government by the United States. A peaceful solution of the present impasse is looked for around the new year when the Mexican law becomes effective.

Complete tax figures for 1924 show that 236,380 corporations reported taxable incomes aggregating $7,586,632,292. On the basis of the figures collected $881,549,546. Taking those figures as a basis of 15 per cent return on 1925 taxes by rebates on 1926 payments, the government would get back the sum of $132,309,510, leaving of the $300,000,000 surplus proposed to be rebated only $167,690,490 for the grant of a bonus to individual taxpayers. It is a calculation like this that is causing men in congress to oppose the rebate plan as unfair to those who paid the taxes directly or to the corporations.

The corporations that paid income taxes in Georgia in 1924 totaled 5,000; in Alabama, 3,828; in Florida, 5,224; in South Carolina, 4,104; in North Carolina, 6,085; and in Tennessee, 5,100. The amount of their aggregate incomes and total tax payments by states is not revealed in the released report. Most of the corporations are engaged in such production and other service as enables them to pass their taxes to the consumers or users, so that any rebate made to the corporations will be velvet to them to be added to their net profits.

The decision of the supreme court in the case of Florida seeking to prevent the United States from imposing and collecting excessive inheritance taxes in that state is awaited with great interest. Florida adopted a constitutional amendment abolishing all state inheritance taxes. Congress passed a revenue measure providing a higher federal tax in states that do not impose an inheritance tax. Florida claims the right to contest that act as unconstitutional and the government resists the bringing of any such suit, and the arguments are now before the court for an early decision.

of labor it is found that female workers in cotton mills lose more working time through illness than do male workers in other industries. Excessive fatigue caused by long hours, high-speed work and poor working conditions are the contributing causes. Home duties cause 20 per cent of the lost time and shut downs and lay off account for another 20 per cent.

The "spare-hand system," practiced more in the south than in the north, causes 5 per cent of lost time. In an insurance company's suit against the state of Illinois the supreme court has just decided that a specific tax levied on foreign or extra state insurance companies, higher than on such companies originating and operating in the state, is a heavy discrimination in favor of domestic companies. The judgment of the supreme court of Illinois sustaining the discriminating rate is reversed. The decision is important as settling like controversies in other states than Illinois.

Postmaster General New announces that indications are that the Christmas mail this year will largely overtop that of any Christmas that has preceded it. He is particularly anxious that the people know that unless they speed up their gift packages and greeting cards there may be Christmas as to delay millions of mail pieces and prevent their being happily received by those to whom they are addressed. Let all concerned be so forewarned.

Chairman O'Connor, of the shipping board, says the recent regional hearings held by members of the board throughout the country fully reveal the fact that the "want an American merchant marine, privately owned if possible, but a merchant marine anyway." The board will so report to congress. Southern men interested in a merchant marine believe southern ports would get a fairer and squarer deal from a government-operated system than from private corporations that would naturally favor the more profitable ports.

LAST DAY TO SECURE SEATS FOR CONCERTS

Because the Sunday observance law prohibits the sale of tickets on Sundays, today is the last day in which reserved seat admissions to the Atlanta Symphony orchestra concert Sunday afternoon may be secured. The concert, second in the 1926-27 series of eight to be given by the magnificent organization of 70 musicians under conductor Enrique Linder, will begin promptly at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Loew's Grand theater.

Elite season tickets for this and the remaining six concerts in the series, or reserved seat tickets for the single performance may be secured at Loew's Grand theater. A. M. R. Piano company, Peachtree and Ellis streets. Season reservations are priced on a pro rata basis allowing for the first concert having been paid. The average price per concert is almost 50 per cent less by making season reservations. Tickets for the one performance may be secured at Loew's Grand theater at $1.50 for orchestra and $1.00 balcony.

As is the custom, the top gallery seats will be free for the general public, on a basis of first come first served, as long as they last. The program for Sunday afternoon is one of the most popular ever arranged by the local symphony. Opening with the delightful "Hansel and Gretel" overture, and in the second act, a beautiful musical comedy, "The Merry Widow," by Franz Lehár. The program is a "Marionette" of a "Peer Gert" suit by Grieg and "Londonderry Air," by Grieg. The program is a popular number after another until the climax is reached in Wagner's "Tannhäuser" overture.

Special rehearsals have been held for this program inasmuch as the symphony association is particularly desirous of winning wide popular approval for this part of the state. Bishop Thayer is dispensing the business of the conference with much rapidity.

PRIMARY RECOUNT HEARING OPENED

Hearing on a petition for a mandamus absolute ordering the city democratic executive committee to recount the ballots cast in the city primary of September 22, got under way Friday before Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court.

The petition was filed by Councilman Cecil G. Allen, of second ward, and other members of the city democratic committee. It was directed against J. P. Wall, chairman, and other members of the city democratic committee.

Dr. P. L. Moon, incumbent, was declared the nominee by the committee by a majority of three votes and his name was entered on the certified list of nominees filed several weeks ago with the city clerk, Walter C. Taylor.

The petition alleged irregularities in the casting of ballots, charging that certain persons allegedly registered were not allowed to vote when they were known to be qualified voters.

A mandamus nisi was signed by Judge Humphries, who set aside the original date for hearing on November 13, but the hearing was postponed upon agreement of attorneys, George Spence, Atlanta attorney, representing the committee, while the law firm of Drake and Stinchcomb are representing Mr. Allen.

Mr. Allen was active in presenting the matter to the grand jury, which recommended a recount but failed to pass a resolution to that effect, and declared that it was powerless to return indictments in the case because of lack of legal authority and because no fraud was found.

The jury pointed out that there was no law by which a person can be punished for voting more than once in a primary election, although state government elections are ample to prevent fraud.

Another charge contained in the petition was that the auditing system was not used in accordance with the law.

The hearing will be continued when court convenes at 9 o'clock this morning.

CORPORATION READY TO RECEIVE COTTON

Memphis, Tenn., November 26.—(AP.) The Central Agricultural Finance corporation is ready to receive cotton from bankers and growers and begin a party primary, although the corporation has not yet received 100,000 bales of cotton, L. K. Salisbury, president, announced tonight.

The corporation's stock already has been subscribed to the extent of $1,007,350, more than half the authorized capitalization, and the company has been authorized to borrow $100,000 on this basis to borrow from banks to finance the pool. Mrs. Salisbury, who has extensive cotton interests, declared.

The Union and Planters' Bank and Trust company and Bank of Commerce, lead the list of stock subscribers with $225,000 each. Memphis banking institutions have subscribed $817,000 of the total, the announced figure.

North Mississippi bankers subscribed $152,000; west Tennessee bankers, $7,000; eastern Arkansas bankers, $24,000; and Kentucky bankers, $6,200. Mr. Salisbury, president of the corporation, with headquarters at Memphis, is one of the organizers of the movement to withdraw the crop surplus and stabilize the market.

LOUISIANA MAN GATHERS PINE SEED IN SUMTER COUNTY

Americus, Ga., November 26.—(Special.)—C. F. Delaney left Americus Thursday after having spent several weeks here collecting pine seed for the Louisiana State university. The seed of short leaf and loblolly pine chiefly was collected by Delaney, about 80 pounds were secured from him and collected by him in this county prior to the recent frosts, which destroyed the remaining seed crop.

The seed are worth $5.00 a pound, Delaney said, but those secured by him will be distributed free through the state department which he represents as part of an extensive reforestation scheme undertaken by the state of Louisiana, and for which $160,000 has been appropriated.

Sumter county was selected for securing pine tree seed because of an almost total pine tree seed failure in many parts of the southern pine growing belt during the last two years, and a growing scarcity of these seed in Louisiana.

There are between five and eight million acres of cut-over and damaged lands in Louisiana suitable for reforestation, Delaney said, where the pine trees seed secured here will be planted through efforts of the reforestation commission which has headquarters at Alexandria, La.

Ballbearers were Judge T. O. Hathcock, A. J. Woodruff, George E. Everitt, L. H. Everett, Robert B. Everitt and E. M. Hathcock.

Mrs. Everitt is survived by her husband; six sons, James, A. L., E. L., and W. E. Sewell, all of Pittsburg, Texas; L. A. Sewell, of Atlanta, and a sister, Mrs. E. R. Baker, of Ben Hill, Ga.

Funeral services for Mrs. E. S. Everitt, 66, of 211 East Ponce de Leon avenue, Decatur, who died Thursday, were held Friday afternoon at Decatur Methodist church. The Rev. J. W. Quillian, Rev. J. M. Tull and Dr. W. L. Pierce officiated and interment was in Decatur cemetery.

Milton C. Work's Pointer On How To Play Bridge

(Milton C. Work, the international bridge authority, will answer your auction bridge questions. A stamped self-addressed envelope must accompany each request for replies.)

When the bidding is opened with no trump and the player on the left has considerable strength, he has made one old. At the tables at which second hand doubled, fourth hand's bid produced a game, scoring quite a large sum for the information of the reader.

There is no universal rule to be applied. To advise an invariable pass would be both unkind and cowardly. There are hands with which a no trump should be overcalled by a suit; others with a strong suit, which should pass. Many more errors are made by bidding a suit with hands which should be passed than by passing with hands which should be bid. The suit should not be bid unless there is a reasonable chance of game, and in determining whether a reasonable chance exists, it would be carrying optimism too far to expect more than two tricks from the partner. It is generally more profitable to defeat a no trump than to make a score of less than game.

The most amateurish error (that the card table witnesses) is the bidding of a long solid minor (with which game is not probable) over a no trump. For example, holding:

Spade: x-x-x. Heart: x-x. Diamond: x-x-x. Club: x-x-x. To bid two clubs over a no trump on the right would be the acme of foolishness. The correct bid is the no trump by at least 50 points is practically assured; a game at clubs most improbable. A major bid and game at clubs would be equivalent to saying: "My dear opponent, you are on the wrong track; you cannot go to the left, you must go to the right; I advise you to shift to a suit."

The pointer for today is: When sitting over a no trump, do not bid a suit unless within two tricks of game; but double when you hold the doubbling strength and distribution.

HEAD OF HERMIT FOUND IN RIVER

Kingstree, S. C., November 26.—(AP.) The strange life of a hermit known only as "Frenchy," who for five years has hidden himself in the Black river swamps, has ended in mystery with the finding of his head, severed from his body, in the river near his rude hut.

W. F. McCants went to the hermit's yesterday to invite him to Thanksgiving dinner and found the door of the shack locked. The hermit, who usually was chained just out of reach of the cabin was gone and a trail of blood led to the river. He forced open the door, but everything in the hut was in apparent order.

At the river "Frenchy's" clothing, covered with blood, was found and the police were called to investigate. The river was dragged today, resulting in the finding of the hermit's head, and the searchers continued to seek his body but no trace of it was found.

Coming to Kingstree as an itinerant umbrella mender 20 years ago, he received $5,000 in the last year, usually stopping to fish in the waters of the Black river. Five years ago he returned and set up his camp there. Little was known of his last life and no one learned his name. When asked, he mumbled unintelligible syllables. He appeared to have been educated and was said to have been a native of France, where he left a divorced wife and son. "Frenchy" spoke French and was past middle age and a full black beard covered his face.

No one ever learned his reasons for taking on a hermit's life, although the fact he kept the vicious dog always near him led to the belief he may have lived in fear of enemies.

BRANDON GUESTS DEW ARRESTS

Louisville, November 26.—(AP.)—David R. Castleman, Louisville attorney, who, with his brother, Will, and Addison Smith, vice president of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, were reported arrested at a camp near Bay Minette, Ala., Monday along with Governor W. W. Brandon, of Alabama, and five others, today denied that he had been arrested.

According to reports from Bay Minette, court records showed that the campers were placed under bonds of $300 each and hearing set for December 8 after deputies searched the camp and reported finding several quarts of whiskey.

Mr. Castleman said the deputies found some whiskey in the assembly room at the camp. "I do not know to whom the liquor belonged as there were about 15 or 20 guests at the camp, although the men mentioned were the only ones in camp at the time. The officers were courteous to us. We gave them our names when they requested, but they did not arrest us. We are not under bond nor were we even cited, reports to the contrary are untrue."

"At first I believed the raid to be a practical joke and not until I saw a newspaper did I learn otherwise."

COAST LINE ROAD PLANS BIG BONUS TO STOCKHOLDERS

Washington, November 26.—(AP.)—Stockholders of the Atlantic Coast Line will receive a good-sized bonus, if an application filed today with the interstate commerce commission is approved.

The company proposes to issue 137,500 shares of common stock to be sold at par to its present stockholders in the proportion of one share of new stock for each five shares which they now hold. The par value of the new issue will be $13,750,000 but the market value is approximately twice that amount.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the corporation will be held in Richmond, December 13, to approve the project and the board of directors will ask authorization for a total issue of 240,000 shares of new stock, of which the present issue is a part.

Money derived from the sale of securities will be used to meet the costs of additions and betterments to the system.

SAVINGS DEPOSITS GROWTH IS SHOWN IN BANK REPORTS

Substantial growth of saving deposits in Atlanta banks during the past year is evidence of greatly increased prosperity in this section, clearing house officials said Friday.

In the case of $2,585,297 in saving deposits over figures of last Thanksgiving was reported Friday by the five banks members of the local clearing house association, while the number of depositors were 4,083 more this Thanksgiving than at the same time last year.

Where $32,950,104 was reported on deposit Friday, only $30,334,807 was on deposit at the same time last year, while the total number of savings deposits this Thanksgiving was 140,422 as compared to 138,339 last year.

"HARLEM FROLICS" PLEASES MIDNIGHT AUDIENCE FRIDAY

With Bessie Smith, voice of the colored singers, whose voice has been heard by tens of thousands on Columbia records, taking the leading role, the big midnight frolic for white people at 81 Biscayne street Friday night, proved to be the best of the season thus far and one continuous round of fun and laughter.

Bessie Smith was not the whole show by any means and he it said that Diana Scott, "The Gloom dancer, one of the foremost comedians on the colored stage, literally took the house by storm with his line of chatter. His line was short, snappy, new, fitted its place well and chased all gloom from the packed audience.

"Harlem Frolics," as it was called, was truly a well-balanced colored show that lacked nothing with the possible exception of more time, to make it one of the best colored shows in the country.

There was no particular part that was top-heavy. The dancing was good, the orchestra was good—in fact much better than the average colored orchestra. The chorus had its part, with a striking change of costumes, the monologue was exceptionally good and the singing—by Bessie Smith—was the best and could have been a whole show within itself.

All in all it was one exceptionally good colored show, well worth while. Manager Charles Bailey is again to be congratulated for securing such an array of colored talent in a midnight show for Atlanta's theaters.

Don't Kill at Dawson.

Dawson, Ga., November 26.—(Special.)—A large otter was killed Saturday near Jones mill. It weighed 1-1/2 pounds and was the first seen in this section in a long while and it attracted much attention.

Many had never seen one of these creatures before.

Not Guilty Plea Of 'Whispering Gallery' Author

London, November 26.—(AP.)—Hesck Pearson, journalist and author, was arraigned today and pleaded not guilty of the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses for the sensational publication "The Whispering Gallery." Evidence placed before the police magistrate shed some light on the genesis of the book, which seemingly Pearson had been trying to sell since July.

It was brought out that he was introduced to the publishers under good auspices, having his first interview with one of the members of the John Lane company at a tavern near Pulborough, where Pearson was spending his holidays in September.

The evidence introduced today showed that Pearson maintained, even after the book was publicly denounced, that he had produced a bona fide student made by Sir Kenneth Road which declared the originals of the diary had been returned to him and its contents would not be disclosed until twenty-five years after his (Sir Kenneth's) death. Later, Pearson stated, Sir Kenneth had asked him to withdraw the book. Thereupon the publishers, apparently for the first time, visited Sir Kenneth and discovered they had been tricked. Sir Kenneth was called as a witness at a further hearing on December 1. Pearson was released in £1,000 bail.

Arraignment of Pearson attracted a great deal of curiosity, for there is considerable discussion over the question of what precautions publishers ought to take to guard the public against impostors, and the sort of moral question which has arisen lately concerning how far memoir writers should be permitted to go in describing intimate incidents of either living or dead.

U.S.B. Team Crushed By Powerful Attack Of Visiting Eleven

Pat Barron, Slaton, Miles and McKee Lead Attack on Bluebirds—Hopes of U. S. B. for State Title Are Smashed Under Drive of A. and M. Boys.

BY BEN COTHMAN.

ONROE A. & M. ran roughshod over University at Spiller's Friday afternoon, and smashed all hopes of the Bluebirds winning a state title, by winning yesterday's game, 37 to 0.

Monroe won by smashing through the Bluebird line and stopping the backfield before it could get started. The University line played wonderful ball, thanks to Mr. Becky Speaks, on the defense, but was outchained on the offense.

Time after time Aggie players would break through and stop Huntington before he could get started. University made only two first downs, and got the ball beyond the 50-yard line but one time during the game.

Monroe scored in every quarter, and in the final period went on a scoring spree, making three touchdowns. Myers scored in the first period, Barron kicked goal in the second quarter, from the 15-yard line.

A blocked punt caused the next touchdown for the Aggies in the third quarter. Jones bucking over for a touchdown. The first touchdown in the final period came when Myers picked up a U. S. B. fumble and placed it in scoring position. Later Jones picked up a fumble and raced 50 yards to a touchdown. The last touchdown came when McKee ran the ball across from the 22-yard line.

The best exhibition of place kicking seen on college or prep gridirons was given Friday afternoon by Pat Barron, who made four goals after touchdowns out of five attempts, and tried several placement kicks from the 40 and 45-yard lines, all of them going over the goal line, just missing the uprights. Barron was one of the best Aggie ground gainers, and was well stopped by the Bluebird line men.

Daviscourt Tests Sauer After Losing First Fall

Vidalfi Beats Paxos In One Fall Match After 25 Minutes

Italian and Californian Slated for Battle December 6, Following Vidalfi's Challenge to the Winner of the Daviscourt-Sauer Struggle.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

The Pacific coast's pride, Rough Richard Daviscourt, added another scalp to the string at his belt by defeating Pete Sauer, the former Masked Marvel, by two falls to one at city auditorium Friday night after Sauer had won the first fall in less than half an hour.

After the initial fall it appeared to be an even battle with advantage, if any, on the side of Sauer but in the course of the second fall Sauer was accidentally jabbed in the eye. When he returned to the ring he was unable to see clearly and the victory came in 12 minutes after the bell.

Daviscourt's advantage in weight was offset by the great speed of the marvel until his strength was sapped after the killing headlocks which gave Daviscourt his fall.

The match started with fire action and the 2,000 spectators were given a full dose of excitement throughout the fracas. Sauer relied largely on toe holds and arm locks while the mauling headlock of Daviscourt was about his only effective weapon.

During the first few minutes it became apparent that the greater weight of Daviscourt was his best weapon. Several times the Marvel applied throwing holds but was unable to lift the huge body of his opponent and the holds were broken by sheer strength.

The first fall came in an unexpected manner when Sauer slipped from a headlock near the ropes and applied a double arm bar, usually an ineffective hold, and pinned the Californian. The second fall found Sauer weakening from a series of headlocks which finally ended in Daviscourt winning the fall. Several times Sauer seemed to be on the verge of defeat before the actual fall came, but the marvel showed himself to be in excellent condition and gave the Californian the hardest battle of the recent series.

MID-WESTERN TEAMS REACH FINAL ROUND

Chicago, November 26.—(AP)—Mid-western college eleven fought their rivalry today to mark the close of a season of bitter conference battles and regional rivalries that drew record-breaking crowds throughout the fall.

A handful of major intercollegiate and the Army-Navy game here Saturday remain to be played, but Thanksgiving day conflicts ended the college season proper.

At Milwaukee, Marquette was humbled by the Oregon Aggies, 29 to 0, and in another inter-region encounter the Haskell Indians defeated St. Xavier of Cincinnati, 27 to 0.

In the Missouri valley conference the Oklahoma Aggies upheld their valley record of no defeats by tying Oklahoma in the last minutes of play, thereby winning the conference championship.

Nebraska went down before the University of Washington on the last, 10 to 8, while the Missouri valley teams battled at home.

Teams in other conferences played before holiday crowds to wind up their seasons, including the feat of the Big Ten, which ended last Saturday with Michigan and Northwestern tied for the title.

Judging from the manner in which the arrival of the Army and Navy crews, Knute Rockne took 35 Notre Dame men and traveled toward Saturday's game with Carnegie Tech, after which he reverses his field to meet Southern California on the coast a week later.

Iowa State moved toward Los Angeles for a game with the southern branch of the University of California and Detroit made ready for Georgetown's invasion.

Des Moines, Iowa, November 26.—(AP)—Business men and farmers of Palo Alto and Kosciusko counties left their own affairs today and joined forces with officers and employees of 19 banks in a canvass of depositors designed to bring forth enough time waivers on deposits to permit the institutions to reorganize and resume business. The banks were closed today by agreement in an effort to halt what was termed unwarranted withdrawal of funds that threatened disaster.

Throughout the two counties teams of waiver solicitors were organized to visit each depositor. Their operations were somewhat similar to the work of Liberty loan campaigners of war days, and reports reaching state banking officials here tonight indicated the drive would be satisfactorily concluded within a few days. Many business houses were closed while their proprietors joined the ranks of those working to save the banks and to reopen them on a reorganized basis at the earliest date.

The closed banks include 12 under state charter, six national and one private institution. Their directors decided upon the simultaneous closing when a general anxiety on the part of depositors developed over the closing of a string of banks in Clay county. By coincidence, the Clay county banks reopened for business today after securing sufficient waivers to permit reorganization.

Maidstone, England, November 26.—(AP)—Fainting of a woman juror and the defendant's dramatic denial that he had fired the shot that killed his friend, J. T. Derham, were high spots in the trial today of Alphonse F. A. Smith, who is a grandson of the late Hugh Ryan, Canadian railway builder, was calm and unperturbed during a three-hour examination before Judge Sir Horace Avory. Throughout he maintained that he had never threatened to kill Derham, although he admitted he had learned that Derham and Mrs. Smith were unduly friendly.

The reading of several poignant protestations by Smith of abiding love for his wife, read into the record by his counsel, Sir Edward Marshall Hall, proved too much for one of the two women jurors.

Woman Juror Weeps. As the advocate read a letter in which Smith told his wife that she had given him a glimpse of heaven and then appealed to her not to throw him a life belt only "to withdraw it at the last gasp," the woman juror gave way to an emotional outburst. She leaned back in her chair and, as tears streamed from her eyes, moaned agonizingly.

After relating how a quarrel had arisen between them at a supper party in the Smith villa, "Stella Maria," the defendant said:

"I never touched the trigger. If it was pulled, it must have been in the struggle. I had the intention of shooting myself all day, but I never intended to shoot Derham."

Shows Wrestling Bout. Later he declared that Derham had struck him either at the instant that the revolver went off, or just before, to demonstrate how the weapon might have been fired in the struggle between the two men, a sham wrestling bout was held under the direction of a revolver expert.

Smith said he had met Derham a year ago and that they became great friends. Later, he discovered that Derham had obtained Mrs. Smith's affections. Frantic with jealousy, he bought a revolver with the sole idea of committing suicide. On the promise of his wife to abandon Derham, Smith resumed marital relations only to face another crisis when Smith discovered that Derham and his wife were continuing their friendship.

No Holiday, 100 Students Go on Strike

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., November 26.—(AP)—Because the school board did not declare Friday after Thanksgiving day a holiday, more than 100 seniors and juniors of the Fort Lauderdale High school walked out of classrooms today in protest.

The striking students crowded into cars, paraded the streets, singing and yelling and went to Dan's and Hollywood where they persuaded students in those schools to join them.

For several years it has been a custom to grant a holiday on the Friday after Thanksgiving but because of the delay in opening school following the Thanksgiving holiday, the school board decided against the holiday.

INCENDIARY ORIGIN SEEN IN HOME FIRE

A fire, believed to be of incendiary origin, did considerable damage to the home of John McCollum, 100 Central avenue, Friday morning. According to police reports two blazes in different parts of the house were found to be burning at the same time. This led Assistant Fire Chief Short to advance the theory that the home had been fired by an incendiary.

None of the McCollum family was at home at the time of the fire, according to the report. An investigation into the circumstances surrounding the incident was begun by Call Officers J. G. Bowman and J. A. Wright.

$60,682 VERDICT TO JEWEL CARMEN UPHELD BY COURT

New York, November 26.—(AP)—Verdict of $60,682 awarded Jewel Carmen, motion picture actress, against the Fox Film corporation was affirmed today by the appellate division of the supreme court.

Fox Films in its appeal claimed the judge committed grave errors in making "prejudicial remarks" before the jury that made the award. The actress claimed the film company by "malicious interference" prevented her from fulfilling a contract she had with the Frank A. Keeney Pictures corporation, she was awarded the face value of the contract plus interest, except for three weeks pay she received.

MOON-HUNTER ARE TO STAGE GRUDGE FIGHT

A real grudge fight is in store for fight fans at the Georgia Railway and Power Company's Athletic club Tuesday night when Harry Hunter and Battling Moon, two dusky Atlanta middleweights, clash in the feature go. These two battlers have met only once before and at that time Hunter was awarded the decision. Battling Moon put up a good fight that time, and he feels that he best Hunter, so he is extremely anxious to get another chance to polish off his pugilistic rival of color.

Hunter, on the other hand, is no small amount peeved because of Moon's "mutinous mouthings" and he is just as anxious for the return bout. Happy Smith and L. C. Petty will go eight rounds in another of the bouts on this card. Smith, it will be remembered, has fought in numerous preliminary bouts in the last six months without losing a decision. He is the holder of the Power Company Athletic club title in the lightweight division.

J. C. Garrett, who is the club's champion middleweight, will meet Battling Ataway in another eight-round battle. Garrett will risk his title.

In addition to these bouts, there will be several preliminaries and the prospect of the entire card is that of a first-class show.

HOUSE INSURGENTS ASK FULL RIGHTS

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and the Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, November 26.—Insurgent republican congressmen from Wisconsin, who the regular republican machine refused participation when the house was organized in 1924, are now demanding opportunity to return to complete representation in house affairs.

Writing to Senator Norris, republican of Nebraska, Mr. Frear, while asserting he speaks without consultation with the rest of his delegation, nevertheless declares its members are entitled to free participation in house control and committee.

Mr. Frear says he personally seeks no favors. In the letter a direct appeal is made to Senator Norris that insurgent republican senators who were likewise disciplined by regular republicans two years ago, be allowed in organizing the senate of the 70th congress next year, unless the house insurgents are reinstated in the house.

Washington, November 26.—(AP)—A prohibitive price for liquor is the aim of Assistant Secretary Andrews, chief of the dry forces.

General Andrews admits he sees no immediate prospect of the demand for liquor in this country falling off, so he is going to try and solve the problem by cutting the supply to the point that the price for it will necessarily stop the thirsty.

Andrews sees his greatest problem now in the fact that the bootleggers, liquor stills and he is directing his main offensive against these. He feels he has gotten the upper hand on smuggling and that the end of alcohol diversion is in sight.

Lauding the make-up of his revised personnel, he said today he would carry on during the coming year without any increase in appropriations, limiting the cost of dry enforcement to the $13,000,000 allotted for this fiscal year. He believes the more businesslike administration of the prohibition service is attracting a better personnel.

STORM RENEWAL CHECKS HUNT FOR TUNNEL VICTIMS

Oakland, Calif., November 26.—(AP)—All efforts to reach the bodies of the 10 men drowned yesterday by a flood in the Claremont tunnel, under construction near here, were halted today when a renewed downpour of rain again drenched the greater part of the Pacific coast.

The threat of a second flood caused the calling off of the crew working in the Lafayette tunnel, across a creek from the Claremont tunnel.

The tunnel accident marked a rain and storm season extending from the coast and which continued today with new fury. Some points reported the storm had brought the seasonal rainfall to more than seven inches above last year's figure at this date.

High winds accompanied the rains along the coast. Shipping between here and Hawaii reported tremendous seas.

SALM VISITS SON, BUT IS ALLOWED ONLY 15 MINUTES

New York, November 26.—(AP)—Count Ludwig Salm Von Hoogstraten, who is here to press his suit for separation from the former Millicent Rogers, enjoyed one-eighth of his allotted two hours with his 2-year-old son, Peter, today, the first meeting between father and son for almost a year.

"The countess," he explained, "requested that I see him but 15 minutes today as she wants to take him to Southampton for the week-end. Naturally I yielded to her request. On Monday, however, I shall be with him longer. The court allows me only two hours a day with him, four times a week. That is certainly a minimum for a father to get to know his own son."

Man Caught Robbing Mail Letter Box Gets Hearing on Tuesday. Arrest of a man giving the name of Roy Miller on mail theft charges in Trenton was announced Friday by Postoffice Inspector Joe P. Johnston on receipt of a telegram from Sheriff T. H. Newman, of that city.

According to information received here, Miller was caught robbing a rural route mail box and made a full confession. Hearings on a warrant sworn out by the United States commissioner in home, will take place in Rome on Tuesday.

Cadets and Middies In Season's Epic Grid Fight Today

Football Gate Receipts and Attendance Records Will Be Shattered By An Influx Into Soldiers Field Today—History's Greatest Battle Is Expected.

Chicago, November 26.—The Army and Navy will battle for football supremacy tomorrow in a tug-of-war between two stalwart eleven that promises to be as thrilling as its setting will be colorful and spectacular.

Setting west of the Alleghenies for the first time since they began their football feud in 1890, two of the finest aggregations ever cast in the gridiron mounds of West Point and Annapolis will put the finishing touches to an epic picture of sport in their twenty-ninth contest. They will meet on the newly dedicated soldiers field in a struggle for championship fame and glory before probably close to 110,000 spectators, by all odds the greatest throng ever assembled for a gridiron game in the United States.

Shattered also by their vast outpouring into the big lake front stadium will be all financial records for football. At the face value of $10 and $15 the ticket sale has approximated $800,000 while spectators' prices ranging as high as $100 in many cases, will boost the aggregate cost of attendance to at least $1,000,000, thus making it an event second only to the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship fight so far as finance and attendance are concerned.

No contest in all the colorful history of the Army-Navy classic has approached this spectacle, either in drama or nationwide interest, and few have carried prospects of any more exciting play for honors on the field. It is a fitting climax to a sensational football season to have national and sectional laurels, as well as the coveted service gridiron title, hinge upon the outcome of the game.

Army Favorite. The Army among expert observers, has been established a 7 to 5 favorite on the eve of the battle in spite of the fact that the Cadets have been whipped once, by Notre Dame, and that it is the Navy's unbeaten team which has national as well as eastern championship hopes at stake in the fray.

West Point, however, in the opinion of many critics has an advantage in experience and all-around balance that may prove decisive. The Cadets' one setback, they point out, came at the hands of an eleven that has swept aside all rivals in a sweep toward national title heights, and that defeat was only by the margin of a touchdown that represented the only

Backward and Forward. Pennsylvania boasted two gridiron records today, one for going forward, the other for pedaling backward. Charlie Rodgers, fleet halfback, increased his total push through opposing teams for the season to 1,110 yards by gaining 151 yards against Cornell while his team piled up a loss today through successive penalties and sharp tactical tactics.

Ritchie's Chicago Speech To Democrats Regarded As Open Bid for Presidency

Listeners Describe Address as Effort To Seek Nomination on Anti-Prohibition Plank.

Chicago, Ill., November 26.—Governor Albert Cabell Ritchie, of Maryland, one of the foremost democratic possibilities for the presidency in 1928, propounded his states rights doctrines today before a crowd of Chicago democrats in a manner that made them attach full significance to his words and regard them as a straightforward bid for the nomination as an uncompromising opponent of national prohibition.

Speaking as a luncheon guest of the Troquois club, the Maryland governor assailed excessive federalism that is fast destroying the American system of sovereign states" by its interference in private business, its efforts to standardize education and regulate child labor and by attempting to regulate personal habits by statutory prohibition.

"Prohibition," he said, "is an irrepressible national issue that both the democratic and republican parties must face honestly and fearlessly. The party that fails to do that deserves defeat and will be defeated."

Praise for Al Smith. Governor Al Smith, of New York, was unable to come to Chicago for the Army-Navy game that brought Governor Ritchie, but the governor of Maryland referred to the governor of New York as "the foremost governor in the 48 states and the outstanding personality in the democratic party or in America today."

"We are forgetting," Governor Ritchie said, "that our indivisible union is composed of indivisible states, with the rights of the states clearly defined and limited. We are not only weakening the states but weakening the national structure as well by making it top-heavy, unwieldy, bureaucratic and remote. And we are invading the rights and liberties of the individuals which the founders tried to protect."

"Government should keep its hands off business so long as business keeps its hands off government and engages in no practices which are unfair or stifling to others."

"Prohibition has bred more interstate discord and more political cowardice and hypocrisy and has done more damage to the body politic of our country and our social fabric than anything that has ever entered our national life."

Urges Volstead Law Change. "I resent the imputation that those

SOUTH TO DECIDE ON FARM RELIEF

Washington, November 26.—(AP)—The fate of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill lies in the hands of southern senators and representatives.

Managers of the measure admitted today that a coalition of westerners and southerners is needed to pass the bill. They claim that nearly all of the westerners are for the measure and in view of the depression in the cotton market they believe their chances are good for drawing substantial support from the south.

Already assurances have been given Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, author of the bill, by large rice interests, that they favor the measure, and this endorsement is counted upon by sponsors of the bill to influence a number of members of congress. Indorsement also has been received from several farm organizers in the cotton belt.

While this support has been coming from the south, word also has been received that some of the democrats are shying away from principle of the bill on the assumption that it would commit them to a high tariff, which they believe is needed for relief bill.

Senator McNary is now engaged in conferences with heads of national farm organizations in an effort to perfect details of the measure.

WILLIAM L. JONES, STEEL CHIEF, DIES

Pittsburgh, November 26.—(AP)—William Larimer Jones, 61, president of the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation, died at his home here last night from pneumonia after a brief illness.

Mr. Jones had been head of the concern since it was formed in 1902 through reorganization of the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation.

After his graduation from Princeton in 1887, with a bachelor of science degree, Mr. Jones entered the south side works of the company here as assistant to his father, the late Thomas M. Jones. He succeeded his father as general manager at the latter's death in 1889 and in 1906 was named vice president. He served in that position until he became the first president of the newly-formed Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation.

Mr. Jones was a member of the American Iron & Steel Institute and the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. He leaves one son, William Larimer Jones, Jr.

Records of the northern Great Plains weather bureau station in North Dakota show that frost has occurred as late as June 3 and as early as August 23.

Black Butterflies

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

INSTALLMENT LX.
KITTY'S LAST JOURNEY.

"Jim kicked me out," was Chad's brief explanation as he came into the room. "He sent the nurse away, too, till morning. Wants to be alone with her this last night. Goddard, give me a glass of that, will you?"

He drank the sherry without a pause, drew a third chair close to the fire, and huddled there, dispiritedly monologuing. Jim, it appeared, was going to cut stakes and go away the day after the funeral, as soon as he had settled his bills. Some friend had sent him money! Chad cocked an eye at David.

"And by the way Dorry," he interrupted himself to explain, "Jim wants you to have Kitty's piano. It's the only thing she had that was worth giving away, poor girl, but it's really a good one—much better than the one you have. So perhaps you can find room for it. He'll tell you about it himself if he thinks of it again. Anyway, he wants you to send for it the day after tomorrow. He's going to give up the key to the studio that afternoon."

They made the journey to the cemetery through a white and strangely silent world.

Returning to Jim's more personal plan, Chad expressed the conviction that he meant to tramp a bit.

"He wants to be out in the open, away from everything and everybody," he elaborated, "and that's his idea of the way to do it, though I must say it wouldn't be mine. After that he'll settle down somewhere and go to work. Kitty made him promise he would—said she'd be watching him. She will, too. Catch Kitty letting Jim drift on alone. I offered to go with him on the tramp, of course, but he turned me down. I wouldn't be any good at that sort of thing—too soft. Jim has the constitution of an ox. If he hadn't he couldn't have gone through—"

Chad stopped and helped himself to a second glass of sherry.

"I'm off, too," he then confessed, as he lit another cigarette. "Aunt Julia's got me in tow, and I've committed myself to a six months' trip to Europe with her. We're sailing next week. Don't know how it will work out, but the old girl was mighty decent when I blew in on her, and she struck while the iron was sizzling, for she saw I'd be glad enough to get away from here. I told her the whole story, and I know she'd have seen Kitty through if you two hadn't been doing everything."

David liked the sound of that "you two," underserved though it was.

"So that's the end of the Black Butterflies," Dorinda murmured, her eyes on the fire.

"That's the end, and pretty near time, if you ask me," Chad muttered. "The club was on its last legs, anyhow. Kitty had lost most of her interest in it, and aside from ourselves there hasn't been a dozen at the meetings for a year. They were the limit, too—slackers like Normand and his pals. I've hardly seen them since Dorry's party almost two months ago," Chad ended virtuously, and David grinned over the unconscious smugness of his tone.

"I see you as a future pillar of society, old man," he prophesied. "Devoted squire of Aunt Julia, man of affairs."

But Chad was not yet in a mood for pleasantries.

"I'm going to have a try at it," he said soberly. "I promised Kitty I would. Kitty was bound she'd make men of us both, from her grave. Odd, wasn't it," he sighed, "how she changed at the last? But I suppose most of us do, if we're given time. If I hadn't made that promise Aunt Julia wouldn't have found me so easy. The old girl is going to help me a lot. The only trouble will be to keep away from this kind of stuff. He waved an affectionate hand toward the sherry. "I'm on an allowance now and I've reached the end of it. So take away the decanter, Goddard, like a good chap."

David took it away, with a passing touch on the other's shoulder. Chad threw his cigarette into the fire, and, crouching forward, stared at the burning logs.

"There's no taste in tobacco any more," he complained. "There's no taste in anything. I don't want to whine, but when it comes over me that I'll never see Kit again—that I'll never hear her play—that she's going to be buried tomorrow—O, God!" He swung around toward them. "Tell me, you two," he groaned, "how does a man get through these things?"

They couldn't tell him, and he looked away from them, winking hard. "Here, give me that dog," he cried desperately, and snatched the puppy from Dorinda's lap.

Freckles, who had been asleep, awoke with a protesting yelp. But, finding a familiar face close to his, he yawned forgivingly, and then did his duty as he saw it by licking two big tears off the faun's thin cheeks.

Kitty's death had been a tragedy, but her simple and movingly beautiful funeral took much of the grimness from the memory of it. The studio had become an ivied arbor, with a bank of flowers, on which Kitty lay asleep. The old minister who read the service had the look of a pilgrim poised for entrance to a better world. And the fresh young voices that sang three of Kitty's favorite hymns—who but Jim would have known that Kitty had favorite hymns!—could not have been criticized even by Kitty herself, so tolerant of all things save bad music.

One of the hymns was "Where He Leads Me I Will Follow," and Dorinda's heart contracted under the memory of the night Kitty had sung it to her when she returned to the waiting Butterflies after her first jaunt with David. The ironic twists of life had made her soul cry out. . . . She had been surprised at the time that Kitty knew the words. . . . There was "The Christian's Good Night," too—another hymn Kitty had occasionally sung, always with a little effect of exaggerating it, but never really doing so.

Kitty had once told Jim, Chad mentioned, that her mother had loved these hymns, and that she herself, when a baby, had often been sung to sleep by them. Kitty and hymns. . . . Kitty and prayers. . . . Kitty and "the resurrection and the life." . . . Strange, indeed, but not as strange as this new, cold, still Kitty asleep among the flowers, this Kitty whose hectic life career had so abruptly given place to the final career of death.

The foreground of the picture held the group that had surrounded Kitty in her last days—Jim, Chad, Dorinda, David, Doctor Warren, the two nurses. A little back of these, among the green shadows, out of place and unhappily conscious of it, the last of the Black Butterflies restlessly clustered together—Normand and half a dozen of his pals, counting the minutes till the ceremony was over. Still further in the rear, modestly near the door, Dorinda saw the proprietor of the flour and feed store, up in this forbidden territory at last to see for himself what was going on. His narrow face held a quiet and wistful look. He was unfamiliar with hymns as the Black Butterflies near him, but unlike the Butterflies, he liked the sound of them. He had a strange impression of being far from home. Surely this was not his loft over the flour and feed store.

And then they all made the journey to the cemetery through a white and strangely silent world, in which snow was still falling, to leave Kitty in a deep green-lined bed on a hilltop, under a mountain ash, from one of whose branches a huddled sparrow watched the proceedings with bright eyes. The Black Butterflies, still a little on the outskirts of the group, but loyally standing by their president to the end, exchanged glances as the first clouds fell, mingled with the voice of the old minister in the words of committal.

Agnes Scott Will Be Scene of Alumnae Tea

Over a hundred Agnes Scott alumnae will meet for tea Saturday afternoon at the Anna Young Alumnae house on the Agnes Scott campus. Every year, November 26, is observed as annual home-coming day when all the college alumnae from Marietta, Decatur, Atlanta, and from many other cities in Georgia and other states gather at the Agnes Scott Alumnae house. The date, November 26, was chosen because it is the birthday of the late Miss Anna Young, beloved professor of mathematics at the college for many years and for whom the handsome alumnae house is named. But since the 25th fell on Thanksgiving day this year, it was postponed until Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Anne D. Glover Little, chairman of the entertainment committee of the Agnes Scott Alumnae association, and Miss Margaret Phyllis, chairman of the Alumnae house and tea room committee, together with Mrs. Mary West Thatcher, president of the association, will be hostesses. Assisting in serving will be Mrs. Emma Pope Moss Dieckman, Mrs. Annie Pope Bryan Scott, Miss Lick Black, Mrs. Eloise Gray Brawley, Miss Helen Wayt, Miss Sadie Gober, of Marietta.

'Smilin' Through' To Be Presented At Howard Matinee

Norma Talmadge, in what is conceded to be her most beautiful picture, "Smilin' Through," will be the feature film at the Saturday matinee at 3:30 o'clock at the Howard theatre, to which admission will be 10 cents for juniors and 25 cents for adults.

Miss Talmadge takes the part of a lovely girl of two generations, the elder of the pantalolet period, and the other of more modern times. Stirring scenes of action contrast with those of romantic beauty.

Mirroring the atmosphere of the picture will be the quaint old-fashioned dance, participated in by four dancing pupils of the Kelley Lamont School of Dancing, little Misses Marjorie Bennett, Grace Perrin, Edna Freeman and Thomasine Vickers.

Felix the Cat, always popular, will take part in the Saturday program.

Mrs. Newton C. Wing, matinee chairman, will be assisted Saturday by Mrs. Charles Harding, in charge of the program, and by Mrs. John C. Courtney, chaperon chairman. Boy and Girl Scouts will assist in taking care of the smaller children, while a number of better film members will also assist.

Music Club Series Intime Will Open December 4.

The series intime of the Atlanta Music club, a presentation of three concertists given in the afternoon in the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's club, will open Saturday, December 4, with the concert of E. Robert Schmitz, the renowned French pianist and founder of the Franco-American Musical society. Other performances in the series will be the appearance of Richard Crooks, celebrated American tenor, on January 22 and the re-creation of the Flonzaley quartet which has played here for a number of seasons with increasing popularity.

In the opinion of Madame Samartoff, of the New York Post, any criticism of Flonzaley concertists seems unnecessary, as the ensemble lives up to its reputation of being among the leading quartets of the world through a consistent standard of excellence.

Tickets for the series intime may be secured from the office of the Atlanta Music club, fourth floor Cable building, 84 North Broad. Seats for the entire house are $2 each; student tickets $1, and season tickets $5 are $5.

YOU Save Money—When You Use Morning Joy Coffee

The average coffee on the market gives about 40 cups to the pound. From many tests, repeated time and again, it has been found that Morning Joy Coffee gives 50 cups to the pound—the coffee when made being of the same strength. In other words, a can of Morning Joy Coffee makes 25% more coffee of the same strength than does a can of other brands. The reason for this is that Morning Joy Coffee is packed in an air-tight, vacuum can, which holds indefinitely all of the original qualities of the coffee.

Aroma—Flavor—Strength

All come to you in your cup of coffee when it is made from Morning Joy. Although costing a few cents a pound more, it is cheaper in the long run than ordinary brands. It is really the economical coffee to use because it gives more cups to the pound—you use less. And above all, when you use Morning Joy you get a delightful blend which affords joy in every drink. Morning Joy costs less per cup. Order it from your grocer.

BUILDING AND LOAN HEARING ON TUESDAY

All angles of the building and loan movement in Georgia will be aired before the Georgia securities commission at a public hearing at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, before the commission takes any definite action on the request of the Georgia Building and Loan league for the commission's official endorsement of the league's statewide educational campaign.

West, secretary of state of Georgia and chairman of the commission, following an executive session at which local bankers and officers of the league presented arguments in favor of and against the league's request for formal and official endorsement.

The building and loan interests of the state were represented at the executive session by George W. West, president of the league, and Horace Russell, attorney for the league. Mr. McLendon stated in announcing the public hearing that several leading bankers and business men of Georgia would be invited to attend the hearing to give testimony concerning building and loan activities in Georgia and that the Building and Loan league would also be permitted to invite its representatives to present facts concerning the building and loan movement. Mr. C. Bennett, chief examiner for the commission, and Horace Russell, attorney for the league, will each be permitted to question the witnesses.

The league not only asked official endorsement of the educational campaign but also official recognition of December 13 as "Georgia Building and Loan Week."

WOMAN CONQUERS FEARS

Husband Delighted and Home Happier

St. Paul, Minn.—"Here is a little advice I would like to have you put in the papers," Mrs. Jack Lorberter, of 704 Delaware Place wrote to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company. "If young women want to keep their health and strength for the next thirty years of their lives, it is best to start in right now and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have tried the Compound myself and received fine results. In describing her condition before taking the Compound, she writes, 'I was afraid in my own house in broad daylight. I used to lock the doors and pull down the shades so that nobody could see me.' One day a booklet advertising the Vegetable Compound was left on her porch and she read it through. 'In doing, she found a letter from a woman whose condition was similar to her own. 'I bought the Vegetable Compound,' Mrs. Lorberter continued, 'and have had fine results. The condition I was in made me a burden to my husband. Now I ask 'How is housekeeping?' and he says, 'It is just like being in heaven.'"

Perjury Charge From Duell-Gish Suit Is Dropped

New York, November 26.—(AP)—Federal indictment charging perjury against Charles M. Duell, former president of Inspiration Pictures, in connection with a suit brought against Lillian Gish, motion picture actress, was nolle prossed today.

The order nullifying the indictment was issued by the district judge. States attorney on the ground that trial of Duell last May had resulted in a jury disagreement and that no additional evidence could be presented at a new trial.

Duell sued Miss Gish to enjoin her from making motion pictures for any but himself. Judge Mack threw the case out of court, declaring that perjury had been committed, and Duell was indicted.

The president does not employ special representatives in either the house or the senate, the spokesman said, nor does he ever expect to in the future.

1927 DAIRY SHOW DECLARED WORTH VAST SUM TO CITY

A million dollars in hotel business alone will be one benefit to Atlanta if the Southeastern Fair association succeeds in securing the 1927 national dairy show for this city. It was disclosed Friday night by Judge John S. Candler, noted jurist and Guernsey breeder, who is a member of the special committee named to go to Chicago Monday to land the show.

Judge Candler said that he was unable to secure a hotel room in the entire city of Philadelphia during the two days of the national dairy show there during the sesqui-centennial convention, being compelled to go to New York each night and return to Philadelphia to attend each day's sessions.

"Indirect benefits to the southeast from bringing some of the world's biggest capitalists to the city could outweigh even the large immediate benefits of the show," Judge Candler asserted. He explained that Marshall Field III, John Hays Hammond, Clarence Mackay, the Postal Telegraph head and father-in-law of Irvin Berlin, Pierpont Morgan, F. M. Warburg, Governor F. O. Lowden, Harvey S. Firestone and the present head of the West Woolworth interests were only a few of the more prominent men identified with the Guernsey branch of the association alone and who are regular attendants at each annual show, regardless of the place it is held.

"Of course, the stimulus the national dairy show would give the dairy industry in Georgia would be almost beyond computation but I do not believe that Mel R. Wilkinson was over-optimistic when he said that it would mean much to the agricultural south as the great Cotton States exposition meant to the industrial south of nearly half a century ago," Judge Candler said.

Mr. Wilkinson has underwritten personally the $25,000 necessary to defray preliminary expenses for the show. A special committee composed of Judge Candler, Arthur L. Brooke, president of the fair association; H. E. Allen, chairman of the Fair of Atlanta Advertising commission, and Oscar Mills, executive vice president of the fair association, will attend the meeting of the directors of the National Dairy Association in Chicago Monday to present Atlanta's bid for the 1927 show.

THE IDEA OF CUTTING A CANAL THROUGH THE ISTHMUS OF PANAMA AND SO ELIMINATING THE LONG VOYAGE AROUND CAPE HORN FROM THE ATLANTIC TO THE PACIFIC HAD LONG BEEN CONSIDERED. AMERICAN INTEREST IN SUCH A PROJECT WAS STIMULATED BY THE ACQUISITION OF TERRITORY ON THE PACIFIC COAST AND THE DISCOVERY OF GOLD IN CALIFORNIA.

THE UNITED STATES HAD MADE A TREATY IN 1846 WITH NEW GRANADA (COLOMBIA) DEALING WITH A PROPOSED CANAL ACROSS PANAMA. NO CANAL CONSTRUCTION HAD BEEN ATTEMPTED BUT WORK WAS BEGUN ON A TRANS-ISTHMIAN RAILWAY.

Jackson, Ga., November 26.—(Special.)—A damage suit for $25,000 against the Southern railway has been filed in Butts superior court by M. L. Hubbard, father of Woodrow Hubbard, who was killed in a grade crossing at Jenkinsburg on July 24, 1925.

It is alleged that the youth, 14 years of age, who was killed when the truck he was driving was struck by a train, was running at a high rate of speed.

The accident occurred at a crossing at Jenkinsburg when a candy truck in which the youth and his brother were riding was struck by a Southern train. Woodrow Hubbard was killed and David Hubbard injured by the collision.

BIG GATLING GUN WILL BE REMOVED FROM THE FORSYTH

Members of the staff of the navy recruiting offices here will remove the large Gatling gun from the lobby of the Forsyth theater today.

The gun, which was on exhibition during the past week's showing of "Loyalty," a war picture.

The old gun, used early in the 1800's, has attracted much interest at the theater and is a striking illustration of the inferiority of guns of that day as compared to mammoth pieces in use in both the navy and army of the present time.

Much work is involved in dismantling the gun and because of its age each part is handled with much care.

NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 26.—(By the Associated Press.)

A strong market for United States treasury obligations and bullion demonstrations in the local traction issues featured the advance in the bond market. The continued ease of time money conditions in the face of the usual month-end tightening of call loans, was a favorable factor.

Shipments in treasury 4-1/2s to a price of 110, 10 per cent above their face value, indicated the character of the investment buying which has sustained also reached new heights.

Higher prices for Liberty bonds.

A brisk upturn of more than 3 points in turnover exceeding $1,000,000 was associated with reports that negotiations were about to be closed for the sale of some of the company's ships to another line. Railroad liens around the year's top prices.

Foreign obligations were firm, with French 5s and an advance of nearly 2 points in Argentine 5s.

A $2,500,000 credit for the city of Budapest was arranged for the city of Budapest by the city of Budapest.

Banking interests, with the assistance of the International Acceptance Bank.
